C. M. Guggenheimer Dies In Miami Florida

Cone Export & Commission Co. Official Died Tuesday Following Heart Attack; Visited Here In January

Clarence M. Guggenheimer, 66, Vice President of Cone Export and Commission company, died last Tuesday afternoon in a Miami Beach hospital. He had suffered a heart attack there February 11th. He was spending a short vacation with his wife, the former Miss Irma Hoffman of New York City, at the time he was stricken. Mrs. Guggenheimer is the only immediate survivor. Mr. Guggenheimer was a cousin of the Cones in Greensboro.

A native of Lynchburg Va., Mr. Guggenheimer was graduated from Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, Md., and began his business career with the Cone company as a salesman in the Boston office in 1901. He later moved to New York and was elected company treasurer, in which capacity he served until becoming vice president in 1938. He spent a week in January touring the Cone plants here, Proximity Mfg. Co., and Revolution Cotton Mills, with which he had been associated as director and officer. He was well known in the textile interests in the North street district of New York City, and funeral services will be held Sunday at 11:00 A.M. at the Temple Emanuel, Fifth avenue and 65th street.

White Oak Marine Credited With Five Japs In Marshalls

According to recent reports, Pvt. Alonzo Hawley of White Oak and four other wounded veterans of the Marshall Islands invasion, now being treated at Pearl Harbor, told how they and their buddies laughed and sang the Marine Hymn as they stormed the beach at Namur Island. Hawley and his small group had advanced far ahead of the main American line and had spent the night listening to the Japs jabber only a few yards away.

Suddenly, the Japs started to attack in force, and the Marines were so close they could almost reach over the top of one of the Jap pill boxes. "Then we heard them crying and moaning—for the attack had been stopped by mortar fire from our main group," a member of the party said.

Hawley was credited with killing five Japs and a few "probables." He believes he saw the first Jap spotted by the first wave of marines ashore. "He had a club raised high, ready to strike, so I shot him," said Hawley. "Then I saw a Jap with a light machine-gun, and as I started to fire with my rifle, another Jap I hadn't seen gave a terrific scream. Well, I shot him instead and then killed the other with a grenade."

Pvt. Hawley, nineteen, of 1200 Gordon street, was employed at White Oak mills before his induction into the service in April 1943. The extent of his wounds are not known here.

Mrs. Ernest Cockman conducted the devotional, after which Miss Sallie Burgess led in prayer. A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served, carrying out the Valentine motif.

Those present were Misses Sallie and Mary Burgess, Mesdames Jewel Martin, Janita Ritter, Cornelia Dowdy, Cleodell Pitchford, Ernest Cockman, and little Barbara Pitchford and Kenneth Ritter.

Monthly Awards Will Be Presented To Mill And To Department Having Best Attendance During That Period; Contest To Begin Monday, Feb. 28

An attendance contest will be conducted and two monthly awards are to be presented in the Cone Mills of Greensboro. A pennant will be presented each month to the mill having the best percentage of attendance for the preceding month; and an American flag will be given for display by the department having the best attendance in each mill.

The pennant will be flown just under the Army-Navy E pennant on the flagstaff of the winning mill, while the American flag will be displayed in the winning department. Each will be kept for a one month period, then relinquished to the next month's winner. The awards will be made each month as soon as the attendance reports are all completed and the percentage of attendance can be computed.

The first month of the contest will begin on Monday, February twenty-eighth, and will run until Sunday, March twenty-sixth. The second month will begin on Monday, March twenty-seventh, each month ending the last Sunday of the month and beginning the Monday following the last Sunday. The Personnel office, which began keeping attendance records on January thirty-first, will be responsible for keeping the records and computing the percentages of attendance. Weekly figures will be published from time to time, as well as the monthly percentage on which the awards will be based.

In figuring attendance totals, both excused and unexcused absences will be counted. However, employees sent out to rest will not be counted as absences in the contest.

During the week of January thirty-first to February sixth—the first week attendance records were kept for all four entire plants—the average daily attendance percentages were: White Oak 84 percent, Proximity 84.7 percent, and Proximity Print Works 91.9 percent. Department figures are given below.

Joyce Newnam Weds R. L. Shoffner In Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus H. Newnam, 2110 Cypress street, have announced the marriage of their youngest daughter, Joyce, to Staff Sgt. Robert Lucine Shoffner, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Shoffner, Burlington, which took place Monday at the Baptist parsonage in Tallahassee, Fla., where the bridegroom is stationed by the army at Dale Mabry field.

The two mothers attended the wedding as did Mr. and Mrs. Jack McPherson and small daughter, Chloe Dean, of Graham, Mrs. McPherson being the bridegroom's sister. Rev. Pierce Ellis officiated for the simple wedding for which the bride wore a gold wool dress, brown accessories and a corsage of ucas lilies.

After a trip into Georgia, Sergeant and Mrs. Shoffner will be at home in Tallahassee at 302 Carolina street. The bride, who was graduated from Rankin high school and had business training at Woman's college, was in the executive offices of Burlington Mills corporation before leaving to be married. The bridegroom, who attended Elton college, was with Zimmerman Lumber company, Burlington, before entering the army in 1941.

Rev. Baby Clinic

Those attending Revolution Baby Clinic Wednesday afternoon were as follows: Linda Falk, Frederick Moore, Grady Manuel, Lloyd Garner, Raymond Wheeler, Cora Betsy Thigpen, Ann Hilliard and Joy Ann Freeman.

Cotton Hats—Spring Hit

Cottons have been bowing in a series of millinery creations designed to go right to Milady's head! While the fact that prominent designers are using cotton is no longer news, the cottons selected and the manner in which they are handled puts cotton hats in the headlines. Visored berets, calots, Dutch caps, side-draped contour hats, half hats, and of course, the perennial sailor are all turning up clad in cotton this season.

Among the top-flight designers, Sally Victor has used cottons extensively in her new collection, treating them with imagination on a foundation of good sense. She has developed a group of "Ha-Penny Sailors" of gingham in beautiful new Scotch plaids with matching weskits. These little sailors economize on fabric in the true Scottish tradition, with flat beret crowns and tiny brims. Some, just to show they're not stingy, are highlighted with satin. In fact, this designer has done a lot with cottons this spring, also using them in her young and gay "Bobbies" which resemble fatigue hats with their head-moulding crowns and tiny rolled brims. Gingham, one of Miss Victor's favorites, is also shown in her wedding ring berets designed to stick to heads the way beret fashioned thick gold wedding rings, clung to fingers. She deserted gingham long enough, however, to create a white pique halo which she calls a Hairfree because it fits under a chignon hair-do, and an unusual looking turban of cotton upholstery fabric trimmed with string loops, with a hand-bag to match.

Clever balance between pretty and practical has been reached by Peg Fletcher who capitalizes on the feeling American women have for youth by presenting models in the same fabrics and colors for the young and "younger" types who aren't so young. This designer has carried South of the Border influence into headgear and includes in this category several Huipli head-dresses like those worn by peon women made of pleated bright cottons which frame the head and may be tied under the bun. On the more formal side, she showed one evening hat of pleated white lingerie under a cuff of Milan lattice work. With it went black gloves cuffed with lingerie to match the hat.

Hattie Carnegie has taken gingham, highlighted it with sequins, and draped it into one of those charming side-contour models that set off the coiffure so beautifully. Helene Garnell has interpreted past events to make present-day millinery history with such coups as a pleated, fan-shaped lack bit to surmount the bun, and a shallow Watteau model of crisp starched lace.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors for their thoughtfulness and sympathy during our recent bereavement. The lovely flowers were a source of great comfort.—Mrs. J. F. Everhart and children.

"In the proposed National Service Act I cannot help feeling that we are going the longest way 'round' to find the most dubious way home... Why not apply more private enterprise, and imagination to the (manpower) problem?"—Dorothy Thompson, commentator.

White Oak Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Wright and daughter of 1610 15th street visited their son, Pvt. Hubert Wright at Camp Stewart, Ga., who is in the hospital.

Mrs. Robert L. Kale, 1511 16th street recently visited Mrs. George B. Ward, Guilford college.

The surgical dressing class met on Thursday night at the welfare department of the YMCA. Those present were: Mesdames R. H. Armfield, B. A. Byrd, Lee Clapp, L. M. Ham, H. Battle, Frank Graves, Jr., Hazel Owen Colon Powers and Misses Marie, Louise and Alma Hester, Jane Byrd and Lillian Tilley.

Mrs. Viola Gant, 1509 19th street, and Miss Juanita Hobbs have gone to Boston, Mass., to visit Mrs. Gant's husband, Sgt. James Gant.

Boy Scout troop No. 17 of the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church met Thursday night at the church with their leader, J. Vaughn Brady. After their meeting the boys played several commando games.

Pvt. Ramon Teague, stationed at Ft. Myers, Fla., is visiting his wife, Mrs. Irene Teague, 3216 Spruce street.

Master Sgt. Elmo Flintom, who has been on duty in Trinidad for quite some time arrived home last Wednesday by plane to spend thirty days with his mother, Mrs. Freda Flintom, of Maple street. His brother, Pvt. George Flintom came from Camp Stewart, Ga., for the week end, and his sister, Mrs. Ed Sossoman and her children, of Roanoke, Va., came Saturday to spend a week. Sunday, the entire family had a reunion at their home; the first one in several years. Other members included Mrs. Ed Spivey, Mr. Spivey and their children, Miss Dorothy Flintom, and a rather new daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Flintom, formerly, Miss Ester Bailey.

Pvt. Charlie Caviness of Camp Davis, Wilmington, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Caviness, 17th street.

Staff Sgt. Worth Culbertson, Camp Stewart, Ga., spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Culbertson.

Word has been received by Mrs. Hardin Parrish, formerly Elaine Coffey, that her husband, Pfc. Parrish, has arrived safely in England.

Pvt. Eugene McNeill left Monday for his army station at Miami, Fla., after a two weeks' furlough with friends and relatives here.

Pfc. Claude Wyrick, of the Marines, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wyrick, Sr., at their home on the Reidsville Road. Claude has been on duty at very strategic points in the Pacific area.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Nall attended the funeral in Siler City last Wednesday of Mr. Nall's aunt, Mrs. Sam Dorsett.

Miss Clara Cockman of Brightwood spent the week end with Miss Margaret Nall at her home on Hubbard street.

Master Sgt. and Mrs. Hollis O. Leon and of Camp Lee, Va., are visiting Sgt. Leonard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Leonard, 2506 Spruce street.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vaughan and Mrs. Cora Ozment spent several days last week at New River, with their sons, Ralph Vaughan and Julius Ozment.

Mrs. W. T. Moore underwent an operation at a local hospital Monday.

Mrs. Violet Kirkman of Revolution is visiting her husband, Pfc. Edward Kirkman, stationed at Fairbank, Calif.

Print Works Snappers

On Tuesday, three sailors visited the plant: Ben and Gray Thornburg and Jack Stanley. The Thornburgs used to work in the Packing department, and Jack Stanley was our standby in the Color Shop. Jack has a 21 day furlough... Pfc. Walter Cleland, Jr., has gone back to Oregon after a short visit... Pfc. Jim Myrick was also in town for a few days... Mr. Jim Campbell's family is back from a visit to his new granddaughter in Texas... Mr. Alex Phillips, who has been with us since January 1929, has gone back to the farm and expects to raise himself a crop this summer. We wish him the best of luck. He has always been a faithful and efficient worker and will be missed in the Finishing Room... The girls in the office enjoyed a Valentine Party, Monday at noon with one of our former stenographers, Mrs. Nell McKnight. They came back decorated with attractive sweet pea corsages... We have heard considerable talk about the income tax and it looks like most of the people here who have dependents are owed money by the Government and do not owe additional funds. However, the people without dependents are finding that they are the ones who are supporting the Government. We regret to read that Greensboro's purchases of "E" bonds are not only lower than the country as a whole, but lower than North Carolina as a whole. The majority of "E" bond buyers are the week payroll plan buyers and $25 buyers, and we believe that our people will be back in the market just as soon as they have worked out their taxes. First on the list is Taxes, then "E" Bonds and then Red Cross War Chest. We will have some more to tell you about the Red Cross a little later on... We regret to note that Mr. Bill Pugh is still out sick... Mr. "Doc" Church is back on the job much improved by his week of rest... We find that Mr. Herbert Ritter of the Napping Room is able to get up town under his own power, having recovered sufficiently from his gall bladder operation to get around, and we hope to have him back with us by the first of March.

James Hinson Reported Missing On Flight

Word has been received here from the Secretary of War that Sgt. James A. Hinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hinson, 1910 Poplar street, Revolution, has been missing since January 25 on a flight between China and India.

Sgt. Hinson entered the service December 12, 1942 and was an aerial gunner. He received his gunner's wings at Las Vegas Army Air Field, Nevada. He left the United States last August and was stationed in India for some time. He was stationed in China at the time of his last reported flight.

PICK-UPS from Ceasar Cone School

Second Grade—Room 2

We are learning the following health rules:

1. Brush our teeth at least once a day.
2. Bathe often and put on clean clothes.
3. Wash hands often; especially before eating.
4. Drink milk.
5. Eat fruit and vegetables.
6. Go to bed early.
7. Keep feet dry.

Twenty-three children have overshoes, galoshes or rubber boots. This helps our attendance on rainy days.

Third Grade—Room 7

Julius Moore made a bird house to enter in the contest. We hope a bluebird will choose it for its home.

Fourth Grade—Room 11

The bond business is picking up in Miss Cox's fourth grade. Two girls have bought bonds this week. They are Joe Jenkins and Carolyn Smith.

Fifth Grade—

Mrs. Lineberry entertained her fifth grade with a Valentine party Monday afternoon. Prizes were won by Bonita Phillips and Jerry Lankford. After several games were played ice cream was served.

We are very proud of our room in the increased sales of war stamps. We have reached 92 per cent and are working very hard for 100 per cent.

VALENTINE DAY

On February 14th, it's St. Valentines Day

And many, many valentines I give away.

I knock on the door and call "Valentine".

And run and hide till he's picked up mine.

Then on and on till each friend I've given.

A valentine to express my feeling.

THE SNOW-BALL FLIGHT

The snow-ball flight was lots of fun. Although nobody used a gun.

We built our snow forts very high. While snow-balls came a whistling by.

We were throwing snow-balls fast as we could

Piling our extras on blocks of wood. We would make our snow-balls hard as a brick.

And try to make a direct hit.

THE HICKORY TREE

The hickory tree was oh so bare. Until a bluebird lighted there.

But when it started to snow fast! The little bluebird flew home fast!

Attendance Contest

At the suggestion of some employees of the local Cone Mills an attendance contest will be conducted by the mills starting the first of March.

The suggestion was made after these employees had given some thought to the matter of absenteeism and particularly the thought of methods of reducing unnecessary absenteeism.

It appears that many employees who have thought the matter through are just as much alarmed by unnecessary absenteeism as are the War Department, government officials and others.

As will be announced elsewhere in this paper, two types of attendance contests will be started. The department in each plant which has the best attendance will be privileged to display the American flag in their department during the period in which they have made the best record. This will apply to each of the Cone Mills in Greensboro.

The mill having the best record each month will fly an attendance flag under the American flag and the Army-Navy "E".

The personnel office will keep the records and announce the winning departments and the winning mill shortly after the first of each month beginning April 1.

We feel that an attendance flag has an appropriate place with the American flag and Army-Navy "E", because it does unquestionably indicate participation in the preservation of Americanism, for which the American flag stands, and for contribution to the war effort, for which the Army-Navy "E" pennant stands.

As stated above, the suggestion for this contest came from employees who have given considerable thought to the matter and who believe that the idea is a good one, and we hope that greater production through an improved attendance record in each department and each plant will result.

Mote Cloth

by Picker

A psychologist says none of us is understood, not even by our friends. Perhaps that's why we have friends.

"An exclusive vegetable diet will give a trim figure," says a dietitian. She probably never took a good look at a hippopotamus.

A visitor at the capital was accompanied by his small son. The little boy watched from the gallery when the house came to order.

"Why did the minister pray for all those men, Pop?"

"He didn't. He looked them over and prayed for the country."

Pat: "The bullet went in my chest and came out me back."

Friend: "But it would go through your heart and kill you."

Pat: "Me heart was in me mouth at the time."

Then there was the traveler who asked a native of a remote region if he didn't have trouble getting the necessities of life in that inaccessible spot.

"Yes, we do," said the mountaineer, "and half the time we do get it, it ain't fit to drink."

A billiard, seeing a motorcycle rider going along the road below the house (and never having seen an automobile or motorcycle before), grabbed his rifle and took a shot at it. His wife called out: "Did you get the varmint, Zeke?"

"No," he said, "I didn't kill it. I can still hear it growling, but I sure made it turn that man loose."

Rationing?

A young lady teacher in Sunday School was giving a talk on thankfulness for the blessings received each day, and how we ought to return thanks to the Lord before each meal.

To illustrate, she turned to Junior, whose father was a deacon and a shining light in the church, and asked:

"Junior! What is the first thing your father says on coming to the table?"

Junior: "He says 'Go slow on the butter, kids! I don't know where the next pound is coming from.'"

Raisins Are Right for Winter
Count raisins a kitchen classic for cookery this year. Raisins are available, point-thrift, keep well, are always good. Plan now to serve them often. Learn now to serve them well.

Favorite use for raisins is in the old-time fruit-filled pie. It's often open-faced, not prodigal with pastry. It's always tender, succulent, and tasty.

Here are several you might try:

Raisin Custard Pie
Combine, bring to boil and boil 5 minutes—
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup water.
Cool.
Add gradually and cook, stirring constantly until thickened—
2 tablespoons flour.
Add—
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3/4 teaspoon ground cloves
3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon.
Cool.
Line pie plate with—
Pastry.
Spread bottom of pie plate with—
Raisin sauce.
To—

3 eggs, lightly beaten
Add, stirring until sugar is dissolved—
3/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla.
Pour custard over raisin sauce.
Place in hot oven (400 deg.F.), then immediately turn thermostat to a moderate oven (350 deg.F.) and bake for 1 1/2 hours or until custard is set. Serves 6.

Spiced Sour Cream Pie
Beat slightly—
2 eggs.
Add—
1 cup thick sour cream
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup apple butter
1/2 cup seedless raisins.
Line a 6-inch pie pan with—
Plain pastry.
Pour in filling and bake in a hot oven (450 deg.F.) for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate oven (325 deg.F.) and bake 30 minutes longer. or until custard is set. Serve warm or cold.

Cherry Raisin Pie
Simmer in—
1 cup juice from home-canned cherries
1 cup seedless raisins.
Add—
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
Combine and add—
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 cup sugar.
Continue to cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.
Add—
1 1/2 cups cherries.
Line a 9-inch pie pan with—
Plain pastry.
Pour in raisin cherry mixture and top with crust. Bake in hot oven (400 deg.F.) for about 20 minutes.

Cotton Accessories Sugar-Goat Old And New Spring Outfits

If, like the British, you could buy just one new dress a year, what kind of dress would you buy? The obvious answer is a basic dress—one that would be wearable on all occasions and lend itself to change without much effort. While in the United States we have been fortunate enough to avoid clothes rationing, we are trying to make old clothes last longer and new ones stretch farther than we ever dreamed possible. In fact, the American woman's reputation as "best-dressed woman in the world" is largely due to her appreciation of well-cut, simple clothes which flatter the figure and lend themselves to many quick changes with accessories.

And one of Cotton's contributions to the war on the home front has been pretty, easily freshened fabrics for these accessories.

Weeks are the biggest news on the accessory horizon for spring, reports the fashion director of the Cotton-Textile Institute and National Cotton Council. Most original are Helen Pons' "Dusagraika" weekies made of textured drapery and upholstery cottons and lined with satin. Sally Victor uses Scotch plaid gingham in weekies matched to hats, and Merry Hall uses striped chambray, plaid seersucker, and white pique in her striking glove-and-gilet combinations.

It's only necessary to look through the pages of the pattern catalogues to see countless ideas for attractive variations for new ones. These collars, gilets, bows, etc., can be made from small amounts of material—often scraps are all that is necessary. Many pretty perker-uppers can also be crocheted and tatted out of cotton thread.

Neckwear designed to vary and refresh suits and dresses includes many more types than the classic organdies, piques, and embroidered basques. There are Tattered checks, clan plaid gingham, men's shirts, and even table laces. Classic shapes in neckwear include the deep V collars sometimes with ruffled edges and featured as convertibles to be worn buttoned or pinned high when preferred. Ruffled bow types, the new bib types which fill in scooped-out U decollages in dresses, are among the new fashions. Pique collars are news for their large size, with long ends carrying down to tuck into the closing of the spring suit. Dickeyes are notable for new, soft treatments with jabots, cascade ruffles, and button-on bows highlighting their femininity.

Other suggestions for daytime dressing up or down include two scarves of plaid cotton, one draped into a turban, the other worn to fill in the U-neck of a black afternoon crepe to tone it down for the office.

Make Use Of Your Local Social Security Office

No matter where you work or live, you're probably not very far from a Social Security Board field office or from one of its part-time service points. And the field office has a unique service to offer you—completely without charge.

The field office can help you with scores of questions and problems touching on your rights under Federal old-age and survivors insurance.

You may learn at the field office why you must have a social security account card if you work in a job covered by the Social Security Act; which jobs are or are not covered (most jobs in private industry are covered); why your future benefit rights may be endangered by having more than one social security number; and just how much that little "pastorboard" may eventually mean to you or your family.

You may learn what happens to the social security contributions which your employer deducts from your pay and how that money is safeguarded in the U. S. Treasury.

If you are wondering about how much your monthly insurance benefits will be when you retire at 65 or later, the field office manager can help you figure it out in less than 60 seconds.

In 60 seconds more he can tell you—tentatively, of course—how much your wife and children might receive each month in case of your death. Your actual benefits will depend on the length of time you work and the amount of pay you receive in covered employment.

The field office will help you check on your social security account, in which is recorded all the wages you have received from jobs covered by the Federal insurance system. If you wish, you will be given a card (Form 7004) for mailing to Baltimore, where social security wage accounts are kept. Within a few days you will receive a statement of all wages recorded in your account. If there is any error in the statement, let the field office know immediately so it can be corrected. The record of your wages in your social security account is important because it is used in figuring your benefits when they are due.

"When to file" for monthly retirement payments is a question which frequently concerns older workers who are not certain about the most advantageous time to claim their benefits. The manager of the local Social Security office can help find the answer and also help in filing the claim. He also helps many a widow with problems involved in claiming benefits for herself or for her children.

If your boy or girl is planning to work part-time, they may get information on when it is necessary—or not necessary—to apply for a social security account card; how to safeguard it; and why it is important to have only one social security account number during an entire lifetime.

Although concerned only with old-age and survivors insurance, local office managers have answers to many questions on the differences between unemployment insurance and old-age and survivors insurance. They can direct unemployed workers to the proper office to apply for out-of-work benefits.

Every person in doubt about his or her right to old-age and survivors insurance benefits should visit the local field office. Sometimes young widows, aged parents, and orphans do not know they are eligible for benefits and delay in filing their claims.

If there is a field office in your city, you can get its address from your local telephone directory. It is listed under "U. S. Government, Social Security Board." If you live too far from a field office to visit it in person, write for the information you wish. The Greensboro office of the Social Security Board, which serves the counties of Guilford, Alamance, Caswell and Rockingham is located at 913 Guilford Bank Building.

SERVE "SPECIALS" ON TRADITIONAL AMERICAN DAYS

When what you do doesn't affect rationing, and when the war effort isn't hampered, it's a fine thing to observe as many traditional American days as possible. For by doing so, the ideals for which we are fighting are kept alive and present in the minds of your family.

Take Washington's Birthday as an example. To observe the day as a holiday would hamper the war effort for it would cut down on war production. But, if you canned cherries last summer there's every reason to make a special morale-lifting event out of the dinner you serve on February 22.

Your dinner that day can include the traditional cherry pie or any one of the cherry recipes listed below.

Cherry Cream Pie

Pie Shell:
Melt ½ cup margarine
Add ¼ cup sugar
Roll very fine 4 cups corn flakes
Mix above ingredients. Spread mixture around sides and bottom of pie plate and pat down firmly. Chill in refrigerator.

Pie Filling:
Heat in saucepan 2 cups canned sour cherries
½ cup sugar
¾ cup cherry juice
Add ¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. lemon juice
Soak 1 tbs. gelatin in ¼ cup cold water

Add gelatin to cherry mixture. Chill in refrigerator until mixture begins to thicken. Chill ½ cup evaporated milk in the refrigerator overnight, then whip until thick.
Fold whipped milk into cherry mixture.

Pour into crumb pie shell and place in refrigerator until served.

Sour Cherry Pudding
Temp: 375 deg. Time 1 hr. 8 in.
square cake pan
Sift together
2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
Drain and add—
2 cups cherries
Add—
1 cup milk
3 tbs. melted margarine

Mix well and pour into greased cake pan.
Bake. Serve with cherry sauce.
Beef Tongue with Sour Cherries
Place in Thrift Cooker—
1 fresh beef tongue
Add—
2 cups water
1 stick cinnamon
2 bay leaves
1 stalk celery
1 tsp. salt
10 cloves

1 onion
1 carrot
juice of 1 lemon
Steam for 3 to 4 hours until tender.
Mix—
1 can sour cherries
¼ lb. blanched almonds juice of 2 lemons, rind of 1 lemon
Slice tongue and place a layer of tongue alternating with a layer of cherry mixture in a saucepan until pan is filled. Cook slowly for 20 to 30 minutes. Serve.

How to Grow a Gourmet

Eating is one of the major joys of life—a love of good food among life's greatest blessings. This boon is vouchsafed each of us at birth. We start life with a perfect palate. A palate as delicately attuned to taste and texture as the most subtle epicure's.

Time and the vicissitudes of the table may have dulled somewhat the sensitivity of your taste buds. Preferences and prejudice stifled your early rapture towards good food. But in your baby is re-born this opportunity for pleasure. You should see that his chance for life-long satisfaction is fulfilled.

Best way to grow a gourmet is to serve your baby fine food from the start. Introduce him early to the subtleties of taste and texture. Teach him to distinguish the true color, flavor, and aroma of choice food.

A perfect opportunity to teach good eating habits is presented in strained foods. For these prepared foods, which are now being served to tiny babies, have all the essentials needed to cultivate a discriminating taste in food.

They have a fine-grained texture as smooth as satin to the tongue. They run the gamut of food flavors, being made of fruits, vegetables, cereals and meats. Their colors are pure and strong, as clear in tone as an unadulterated chroma. Their aromas are fresh, and as natural as the day they left the garden, the orchard, and the field.

"THEY SAY BONDS ARE GOING TO BE HARD TO GET SO YOU'D BETTER RUN OUT AND BUY ALL YOU CAN!"

What's more, strained foods may be used as a medium for introducing more sophisticated tastes to toddlers; for they are superbly suited to blending with other, later foods. Given below, for instance, is a recipe in which strained prunes or apple sauce have been combined with rice to teach maturer tastes and textures.

Thus strained foods not only help baby savor his first foods with pleasure, but they widen the scope of his future joys, as well:

Creamy Rice Pudding with Prune Sauce
In top of double boiler scald—
1 cup milk.
Add, cooking until rice is tender—
2 tablespoons rice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons sugar.

Reading & Writing

by Edwin Seaver & Robin McKown

One week end back in the age of automobile pleasure trips, the writer, Anya Seton and her husband went for a drive up the Hudson River Valley region. It was on this trip that an old man, alleged to be haunted, was pointed out to her.

She made other visits to this region after that and became increasingly interested in the life that flourished along the river a hundred years ago. Out of her research has come her exciting novel "Dragonwyck", about a haunted house and the people who lived in it.

The story concerns Nicholas Van Ryn, who ruled estates of Dragonwyck in a system of medieval feudalism; of Joanna, his fat and food-loving wife, and her mysterious death, and Miranda, the golden-haired romantic young girl who unwittingly becomes involved in the sinister fortunes of the great house. Among the personages who play an incidental part in this story are a tortured young poet named Edgar Allan Poe, a sailor, Herman Melville, whose powerful first novel, "Typee" causes such a stir in literary circles, Mr. P. T. Barnum and Tom Thumb, and Martin Van Buren.

Anya Seton is the daughter of Ernest Thompson Seton, who many years ago won over the youth of America with his stories of animals and wildlife. "Dragonwyck" appeared originally in the Ladies Home Journal and is on the way to becoming a major film.

The Book-of-the-Month Club announces as its April selection, "Blessed Are The Meek," a novel of the time of St. Francis, by the noted Polish author, Zofia Kossak. "Blessed Are The Meek" will be published by Roy Publishers, formerly one of the leading publishers of Poland, now established in the United States.

Jesse Stuart reports that one-fourth of the entire population of his home town—Greenup, Kentucky—is reading his novel, "Taps For Private Tussie". Greenup's population is 1,125. "The old men back in the hills are having their glasses refilled so they can read my book," writes Jesse. "Many of them can't read a chapter in a day they read so slowly. Yet they are reading it."

Every mile our boys win means longer communication lines. These mean greater expense, more energy, more of everything from all of us. Let's All Back the Attack with More Bonds.

Here is a message for men who expect to enter military service. Before you leave for the service, place your social security account card with your other valuables; and, above all, leave it in good hands. You will need it again when you return to civilian life. For information concerning account numbers or Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits, call or write the Greensboro, N. C., office of the Social Security Board located at 913 Guilford Building.

Pour some of above mixture into—
1 egg yolk, beaten.
Combine remainder thoroughly and heat for 1 minute.
Add—
1/2 teaspoon vanilla.
Chill.
Combine, blending thoroughly—
1 can (1/2 cup) strained prunes or strained apple sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 1/2 teaspoons sugar.
Serve creamy rice pudding with sauce on top.

"The farmer is impatient with and contemptuous of those who formulate economic policies which violate sound principles . . . by arbitrary and capricious regulations and directives."—Edw. A. O'Neal, president American Farm Bureau Federation.

"I suggest that we forget this talk about buying War Bonds. We aren't buying anything. We are only lending our money. All that is happening is that Uncle Sam wants to borrow some money from us, money that we will get back again. And lending our money in interest bearing War Bonds is better than having it taken away from us in taxes."—Al Smith, former Governor of New York.

"Healthy corporations can provide jobs for thousands of people. They also can pay high taxes.
"If we want jobs after this war we
